DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-3, 14-17, drawn to a reshaped human antibody , classified in class 530, subclass 387.3.
 - II. Claims 4-10, drawn to a nucleic acid, plasmid, host cell, and method of producing an antibody, classified in class 536, subclass 23.53.
 - III. Claim 11, drawn to a method of detecting RSV with an antibody, classified in class 435, subclass 7.1.
 - IV. Claims 12-13, drawn to a method of passive immunotherapy by administration of an antibody to a human, classified in class 424, subclass 130.1.
2. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions of Groups I-II represent separate and distinct products which are made by materially different methods, have different structures, and functions. The nucleic acid and the antibody of Groups I-II are all structurally and functionally distinct from each other. The polynucleic acid of Group II and the antibody of Group I are all structurally and chemically different from each other. The polynucleotide is made by nucleic acid synthesis, while the antibody is raised by immunization. Furthermore, the polynucleotide can be used for hybridization screening, and the antibody can be used to immunopurify antigen, for example. The examination of all groups would require different searches in the U.S. Patent shoes and the scientific literature and would require the consideration of different patentability issues. Thus the inventions I-II and are patentably distinct.

The methods of Inventions III-IV differ in the method objectives, method steps and parameters . Invention III recites a method of detecting RSV with an antibody and Invention IV recites a method of passive immunotherapy by administration of an antibody to a human. The examination of all groups would require different searches in the U.S. PATENT shoes and the scientific literature and would require the consideration of different patentability issues. Thus Inventions III-IV differ in the method objectives, method steps and parameters and are patentably distinct.

Inventions I and III-IV are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the antibody can be used to purify the antigen in addition to the materially different method of Groups III-IV.

3. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter and different classifications, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

4. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a petition under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(l).

5. The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and a product claim is subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be rejoined in accordance with the provisions of MPEP § 821.04. Process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the patentable product will be entered as a matter of right if the amendment is presented prior to final rejection or allowance, whichever is earlier. Amendments submitted after final rejection are governed by 37 CFR 1.116; amendments submitted after allowance are governed by 37 CFR 1.312.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103, and 112. Until an elected product claim is found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowed product claim will not be rejoined. See

Art Unit: 1642

"Guidance on Treatment of Product and Process Claims in light of In re Ochiai, In re Brouwer and 35 U.S.C. § 103(b)," 1184 O.G. 86 (March 26, 1996). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, Applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution either to maintain dependency on the product claims or to otherwise include the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder.

Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
